

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

INTERNATIONAL COMPETITION IN BANKING: THEORY AND PRACTICE

SUMY, UKRAINE, MAY 22, 2014

Conference concept

The global financial crisis has generated new challenges in the management and regulation of the banking system. Moreover, it has exacerbated previously existing problems. Thus, the future prospects of overcoming the crisis to a large extent depend on directions in the development of the modern financial system, with a new paradigm of banking governance being a priority. Probably, one of the most important tasks is finding a solution to risk minimization problems both for the whole banking system and for individual banks. The opinions voiced by the conference participants would help address the above-mentioned problem by answering the following questions. How could a stable growth of the banking sector be achieved under the process of financial markets integration? What regulatory framework should be chosen to minimize banking risks? What should be the essence of effective prudential supervision? What should be the role of central banks in the regulation of the banking system? What are the ways to ensure a balance between the competition and creation of an efficient risk management system? How should banks and other financial institutions be regulated to improve their accountability, value creation and transparency?
