

LIST OF EDITORS AND CONTRIBUTORS

Anas N. Ghazalat is an Assistant Professor in the faculty of Business Studies at the Arab Open University. He received his bachelor's (B.S.) and Master's (M.S.) degree in accounting from Yarmouk University and his Ph.D. in accounting (International accounting financial reporting) from the University of Malaysia Perlis (UNIMAP). His research interests lie in the area of earnings management, financial fraud and manipulation, auditing, corporate governance, corporate finance (theoretical and applied; microeconometrics), financial economics, financial risks, sticky cost and firms and market growth.

Andrews Owusu is an Associate Professor of Accounting at School of Economics, Finance and Accounting, Coventry University. He obtained his PhD from the Robert Gordon University. His research interests are in the areas of performance consequences of corporate governance changes, auditing and earnings management. He has published in International Journals such as Journal of Applied Accounting Research, International Journal of Accounting, Auditing and Performance Evaluation, Journal of Developing Areas and Corporate Ownership and Control.

Brian Bolton is a finance professor and the Associate Director of the Global Board Center at IMD Business School in Switzerland. His research areas of expertise are boards of directors, financial institutions and sustainability. He is the author of the 2015 book Sustainable Financial Investments.

Carlo Caserio is an Associate Professor of Business Administration at the eCampus University, Novedrate, Como, Italy. He received his Ph.D. in Business Administration at the University of Macerata (Italy) and he was a Research Fellow at the University of Pisa (Italy), where he conducted research activities on management information systems and management control. His research interests include the fields of management information systems, financial accounting, management control and accounting information systems. He published several national and international research papers on those subjects.

Chryssoula Tsene is an Assistant Professor in Business Law at the University of Patras, Greece (Department of Business Administration) and an Adjunct Professor at Hellenic Open University, Member of Athens Bar Association. Moreover, she is Member of the Association of Greek Commercialists, Member of the Association of Civil Law and Member of the Company of Commercial and Financial Law Studies. Her research in the field of corporate and business law has been published in a number of scientific journals. Her research interests include corporate governance, corporate law, commercial contracts of agency and distribution and international business law.

Dimitrios Koufopoulos is the Director of the Global MBA programme at University of London, a Visiting Professor at Queen Mary University and a Fellow of the Centre for Distance Education. He is a Fellow of the Institute of Management Consultants, Member of the Chartered Institute of Securities and Investments, Member of the Chartered Management Institute and Academic Member of the European Corporate Governance Institute. He is also the founder and Scientific Director of the Hellenic Observatory of Corporate Governance, which since 2007 produces regular reports on issues relating to corporate governance in Greece. His research interests include corporate governance, boards of directors, strategy, teaching and learning.

Dmitriy Govorun has started his academic career in 2009 when he joined a PhD program at the Ukrainian Academy of Banking of the National Bank of Ukraine (Ukraine). He is a Co-Editors-in-Chief of the journal “Corporate Board: role, duties and composition” and Member of Virtus Global Center for Corporate Governance. His academic achievements include the contribution in writing books and papers related to corporate governance, participation in scientific conferences. His research interests include regulation issues, remuneration and performance, reporting and compliance, etc. His professional experience includes giving open lectures on corporate governance related topics for students in Ukraine (2011), Sweden (2012), Italy (2012, 2013). Since 2011 and up to 2015 he held position of a lecturer of the Chair of International Economics at the Ukrainian Academy of Banking of the National Bank of Ukraine. Starting with 2014 he has handled the Commercial Department of one of TOP-100 Ukrainian law firms TCM Group Ukraine. Since 2018 as a Partner and Chief Financial Officer of TCM Group Ukraine he has been implementing his knowledge and research experience in corporate governance and finance fields.

Elena Merino is Associate Professor in the Department of Business Administration at the University of Castilla-La Mancha (Spain). Her current research interests include corporate governance and management, remuneration of board of directors, characteristics of board of directors, corporate governance and remuneration of directors, among others.

Elisabete S. Vieira is Coordinator Professor in ISCA-UA, University of Aveiro. She is researcher at the Research Unit on Governance, Competitiveness, Public Policies (GOVCOPP) and Vice Coordinator of the Competitiveness, Innovation and Sustainability (CIS) Research Group. She has a Ph.D. in Finance from the ISCTE, Lisbon. Her research topics include corporate finance, corporate behavior finance, and corporate governance.

Inmaculada Bel-Oms is PhD and a Lecturer Professor at the University of València, Spain. Her research is currently focused on gender diversity on boards of directors, corporate governance and corporate social responsibility. She has published several articles in prestigious national and international journals.

Ioannis Gkliatis is currently a Senior Lecturer in Strategic Management at University of Hertfordshire. Moreover, he is a Senior Research Associate at the Hellenic Observatory of Corporate Governance (hocg.eu). Also, he is a director in Gnosis Management Consultants Ltd.

Irge Sener is an Associate Professor of Management and Strategy, at Çankaya University, Ankara, Turkey. Her research interests include strategic management, corporate governance and entrepreneurship. Besides, lecturing on these topics both at graduate and undergraduate levels, as a researcher she was also actively involved in EU-funded projects on strategic analysis, clustering and SMEs. She also has experience in many other projects about management funded by state organizations as a project manager and team member. His primary research interest is on corporate governance, boards of directors, strategy, planning, decision making.

Joaquim Neiva is Associate Professor in ISCA-UA, University of Aveiro. He is a CFO in a multinational company, and works in consultanting. He has a Master in Accountability and Finance, from the Open University. His research topics include corporate finance, financial analysis, and corporate governance.

Khaled Otman is a lecturer in the department of Accounting, Faculty of Economics at Benghazi University in Libya. He received his PhD in Accounting and Finance from Victoria University, Australia. MA and BA in Accounting from Benghazi University. His research interests are related to corporate governance in the Middle East and North Africa region, international finance, investment analysis, risk management and financial markets.

Maria Consuelo Pucheta-Martinez is PhD an Associate Professor in Accounting at the University Jaume I, Castellón, Spain. Her research has been devoted to the economic consequences of the audit reports, the effectiveness of the audit committee and the relationship between audit and non-audit fees. She is currently involved in projects on women on corporate boards, corporate governance and corporate social responsibility.

Marina Brogi is Full Professor at Sapienza University in Rome, where she also served as Deputy Dean of the Faculty of Economics (2011-2017). She teaches International banking and capital markets as well as corporate governance in graduate, MBA, PhD and executive courses at Sapienza University and other universities in Italy and abroad. She is chairperson of the Scientific Committee of the Italian Financial Risk Managers Association (AIFIRM) and Member of the MSCI Thought Leadership Council on Corporate Governance Fundamentals and of the Scientific Committee of the Research Centre of Confindustria (the main association representing manufacturing and service companies in Italy). She is the author of numerous publications and her research interests are bank management, corporate governance of banks and listed companies, and capital markets. She has been invited to present her Expert opinion to public hearings of the Italian Senate and of Italy's lower house and has been appointed by the Bank of Italy in the governance bodies of banks in liquidation. From January 2014 to June 2016 she was one of the 5 top-ranking independent academics appointed among the 30 members who make up the Securities and Markets Stakeholder Group of the European Securities and Markets Authority as provided for in article 37 of the ESMA Regulation (1095/2010/EU).

Mark Rix is from the School of Management, Operations and Marketing at the University of Wollongong (Australia) where he teaches corporate governance, organisational behaviour and human resource management. Mark conducts research on counter-terrorism, human rights, democratic governance, corporate governance, and anti-money laundering and counter-terrorism financing. His is also an advisor on research integrity and ethics.

Montserrat Manzanegue is Associate Professor in the Department of Business Administration at the University of Castilla-La Mancha (Spain). Her current research interests include corporate governance and management, business failure, intellectual capital, knowledge management, non-profit management, innovation, corporate governance and management.

Pablo de Andres (Ph.D., University of Valladolid) is Professor of Finance at the Autonomía University of Madrid. He was awarded the European Investment Bank Prize for young researchers (1997). His research interests range between corporate governance, corporate finance and real options. He is an editor of the Spanish Journal of Finance & Accounting. He was a Visiting Researcher at the Harvard University in 2009 and Visiting Scholar at the Cass Business School in 2012 and 2014. He is research Member of European Corporate Governance Institute and the head of Finance department at Autonomía University of Madrid.

Philmore Alleyne is Senior Lecturer in Accounting in the Department of Management Studies at The University of the West Indies, Cave Hill Campus, Barbados and is also a chartered accountant by profession. He received his MBA from Oxford Brookes University and a PhD in Accounting from The University of Bradford. Dr Alleyne conducts research in whistle-blowing, accounting and auditing issues, corporate governance, business ethics and finance, and lectures in accounting and auditing courses.

Renee M. Thompson is currently a Doctoral Student, Tutor and Part Time Lecturer in the Department of Management Studies, at The University of the West Indies, Cave Hill Campus, Barbados. Ms. Thompson holds a BA. in Psychology and an MSc in Management and Human Resources Management from the University of the West Indies. Her doctoral work focuses on governance of boards in state owned enterprises. Ms. Thompson conducts research in other areas such as corporate governance, corruption and academic dishonesty.

Sara Trucco is an Associate Professor of Business Administration at the Università degli Studi Internazionali di Roma, Rome, Italy. She received her Ph.D. in Business Administration at the University of Pisa (Italy) and she was a Research Fellow at the University of Pisa (Italy), where she conducted research activities on financial accounting and auditing. Her main research interests include the fields of accounting information systems, financial accounting, management accounting and auditing. She published several national and international research papers on these subjects.

Valentina Lagasio is Research Fellow in Financial Intermediaries at Sapienza University of Rome. She has a PhD in Banking and Finance and her research interests are mainly focused on corporate governance, banking and financial intermediation and capital markets. She is an academic member of the European Corporate Governance Institute and she also member of other academic associations (e.g. Adeimf, Aidea). She serves as an editorial board member of the International Journal of Governance and Financial Intermediation.

William Megginson is Professor and Price Chair in Finance at the University of Oklahoma's Michael F. Price College of Business. He is also the Saudi Aramco Chair Professor in Finance at King Fahd University of Petroleum and Minerals in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. Professor Megginson's research interest has focused in recent years on the privatization of state-owned enterprises, sovereign wealth fund investments, energy finance, and investment banking principles and practices. He has published refereed articles in several top academic journals. Professor Megginson's research has been frequently cited in academic and professional publications. His articles have been downloaded over 60,000+ times from the Social Sciences Research Network, and his books and articles have been cited almost 20,000 times (according to Google Scholar). His co-authored privatization survey article, published in the Journal of Economic Literature in 2001, is the eighth most widely cited finance article published since 2000, and the most widely cited article published in 2001.