

THE LIST OF EDITORS AND CONTRIBUTORS

Alberto Celio, Ph.D., Research Fellow in Business Administration at Business and Economics Department of Parthenope University of Naples, Italy. His research interests focus on the management of water public utilities, shipping and port authorities systems.

Antonio Renzi, Ph.D. in Management and Associate Professor of Business Management. He teaches the following subjects at Sapienza University of Rome: Business Management; Entrepreneurship & New Ventures Finance; Performance Measurement & Enterprise Risk Management. His research interests are mainly focused on entrepreneurship, enterprise risk management, and financial management. He is editorial board member of several scientific journals. He published both many articles, in relevant international journals, and books with significant editors.

Assunta Di Vaio, Ph.D., an Associate Professor of Business Administration at Parthenope University of Naples, Italy. She teaches business administration, budgeting and control systems, governance of the seaport systems, and corporate governance of cruise and shipping companies. Her research fields include the managerial accounting for the decision-making processes in the public and private sector, the measurement of the performance, the analysis of the ownership structures, budgeting, reporting and key performance indicators. These issues are applied mainly in the cruise and shipping industry, and port industry. Her research has been published in various prestigious journals.

Beatrice Orlando, Ph.D. in Business Strategy and Corporate Finance. She is a Full Professor and Adjunct Professor of Strategies for Business Growth at Sapienza University of Rome. Her research interests are mainly focused on innovation, entrepreneurship, and corporate strategy. She is editorial board of different journals in the research field and Regional Editor for Europe of the Journal of Knowledge Management. She published in outstanding Journals such as Production, Planning, and Control; Technology Analysis and Strategic Management.

Bernardino Quattrociochi, Full Professor of Economics and Business Management at the University of Rome "Sapienza", Faculty of Economics, for which he is delegated to fundraising. Actually, he is Director of the Advanced Training Course in anti-money laundering and of the Advanced Training Course on Procurement Code, both promoted by the Sapienza University, Faculty of Economics. He also has relevant international experience as a teaching professor at the Simon Ohm University of Applied Science, Nuremberg (Germany) and as responsible for the courses of "Economics and Management" and "Supply Chain Management" respectively at the Universidad del Salvador, Facultad de Ciencias Economicas (USAL), based in Buenos Aires (AR) (2006-2010) and at the University of St. Petersburg (FINEC) (2006-2009). He has been working for over 10 years with CUEIM in the development and management of national and international projects. Among the most significant experiences: from 2008 to 2010 he was the coordinator of the research group on "Infrastructure technology and internationalization of TA CAMP project; in 2012 he was Scientific Director for the Ministry of Environment in the project IMPROWARE [Reference: EuropeAid / 131046 / C / ACT / Multi] under the call SWIM. He is the author of over 100 publications with national and international journals on a broad range of issues in the fields of Economics and Management.

Carmela Di Guida, a Ph.D. student of "Innovazione e gestione delle risorse pubbliche" at University of Molise, Italy. She is attending the second year of the course and her research interests are external reporting in the private and public sectors, corporate governance and performance. The first results of her research have been published in several Italian journals.

Danilo Tuccillo, an Associate Professor at the University of Campania Luigi Vanvitelli. He completed his Ph.D. in Accounting and Management at University of Naples Federico II. His areas of research include corporate governance, management accounting and financial reporting.

Domenico Rocco Cambrea, a Postdoc Researcher in Business Administration at Bocconi University. He received the Ph.D. in Applied Economics and Managerial Decisions at the University of Calabria. He was visiting doctoral researcher at the Trent University of Nottingham and DAAD postdoc researcher at the House of Finance at the Goethe University of Frankfurt. His research interests are in cash holdings and corporate governance in family and non-family firms.

Fabio Bianconi, a Director at Morrow Sodali. He has 14 years of experience as a trusted advisor in corporate governance, proxy contests as well as mergers and acquisitions to both corporate issuers as well as shareholders. He has advised the boards of some of the largest financial institutions in Europe and Middle East and several large companies across a variety of sectors. He is a frequent speaker at conferences and a contributor to research papers with international think tanks and business schools. Fabio is currently a member of the Business Ethics and Systemic Risks committee at the International Corporate Governance Network.

Federico Alvino, a Full Professor of Business Administration at Department of Law of Parthenope University of Naples, Italy. His research interests focus on financial reporting, corporate governance and human resources management. He teaches "business administration" and "accounting". He has participated as speaker in several international conferences, including annual congress of Italian Chapter of Information System (itAIS), European Institute for Advanced Studies in Management (EIASM) and the European Academy of Management (EURAM). He published numerous articles in journals, including Corporate Governance: The International Journal of Business in Society, Journal of Modern Accounting and Auditing.

Francesca Cappellieri, Ph.D., Scholar at University of Calabria (UNICAL). She attended a master course in Accounting at IPE Business School, Naples. Her research interests embrace corporate governance, financial accounting and financial reporting.

Francesco De Luca, Ph.D., an Associate Professor of Accounting, at the University "G. d'Annunzio" of Chieti-Pescara. He is Director of the Master Program in Economics and Management and Professor of International Accounting and Financial Reporting within the same M.Sc. He has been visiting scholar at the University of Alabama at Birmingham (USA), School of Business, in 2012, 2014 and 2017. He is a fellow of AAA (American Accounting Association) and of EAA (European Accounting Association). He is a member of the editorial board of the Journal of Governance and Regulation, and of the International Journal of Economics, Finance and Management. He has (co)authored articles about international accounting standards convergence, venturing and start-up finance, financial distress analysis, and non-financial information.

Francesco Drigo, the Head of Proxy voting within the Investments Stewardship Department of Assicurazioni Generali Group. He is Honorary Fellow in Civil Law and holds a Ph.D. in Comparative Law at the University of Trieste. He is a member of the International Corporate Governance Network (ICGN) and of the United Nations-supported Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI) Global Policy Reference Group. Francesco is active in cooperating with institutes of higher education.

Francesco Mercuri, Ph.D., Research Fellow in Economics and Business Management at Sapienza University of Rome. He is a lecturer at the "Management of Human Resources and Industrial Relations" University Master. Author of several international and national publications focused on management and environmental issues. He also took part, as coordinator or exponent, in various scientific research projects of international and national value, focused in corporate and environmental management fields. He is also member of the Research Body in medium / large enterprises.

Francesco Paolone holds a degree in Business Administration and Management at Bocconi University in Milan. He is currently an adjunct professor at Luiss G.Carli University of Performance Measurement, Financial Reporting and Financial Statement Analysis and Visiting Professor at ESCP Europe Business School - London campus. His research profiles are mainly focused on Financial Reporting, Corporate Governance and Business Models. He has also been visiting researcher at Aalborg University for more than 1 year. He is also in the editorial boards of scientific Journals such as International Journal of Accounting and Financial Reporting, Academy of Accounting and Financial Studies Journal, Accounting and Finance Research, Research Journal of Finance and Accounting and others.

Francesco Surace, a Manager of the Morrow Sodali Corporate Governance team focusing on issues related to corporate governance, new regulations, and executive compensation. Francesco has a broad experience working on many successful corporate governance projects and has followed several clients around Europe on executive compensation topics. He is a frequent panelist at different University events and other specialized centers regarding corporate governance and related matters, he is also an author of numerous articles on corporate governance and executive remuneration.

Gabriella D'Amore, Ph.D., a Research Fellow of Business administration at Parthenope University of Naples, Italy. She has been a Visiting Researcher at Department of City Community and Regional Planning of Cornell University (Ithaca, NY). Her research interests focus on public management and corporate governance mechanisms, with a focus on ownership structure, board of directors, shareholder's protection and reporting. She has participated as a Speaker in several international conferences, including the annual congresses of European Accounting Association (EAA) and the European Institute for Advanced Studies in Management (EIASM) and ItAIS. She published several book chapters and articles on governance, performance measurement and control in public sector including Utilities Policy.

Giorgia Profumo, an Associate Professor of Management, Department of Economics and Business Studies, University of Genoa, where she teaches "Management" and "Advanced Marketing". She holds a Ph.D. in "Service Management" from the the same University and she has been Assistant Professor of Management in the Faculty of Economics, Parthenope University of Naples. Her main research interests are: corporate governance, corporate communication and consumer empowerment, with a focus on service industries. She has published several academic papers in prominent journals.

Giorgio Horeczko, an Assistant Professor of Financial Markets and Institutions at the “G. d’Annunzio” University of Chieti-Pescara, Italy, where he teaches “Management of Financial Institutions” and “Risk Management”. He has more than 30 years of research and teaching experience. His main areas of research include: bank capital and performance, derivatives, and financial markets.

Giovanni Landi, an Assistant Professor in Management at the Department of Economics, Management and Institutions of University of Naples Federico II. Previously, he has been working for a three-year period as Post-Doc research fellow at Interdepartmental Research Centre L.U.P.T. of the same University, focusing on IP Management and Technology Transfer. During his final Ph.D. academic year, he has been visiting doctoral student at Cass Business School – City University of London (UK). After Ph.D., he spent a research period as visiting fellow at Judge Business School – University of Cambridge (UK), participating also as guest discussant to a seminar event about Technology Transfer Management and Social Innovation entitled: “Social Entrepreneurship and Technology Transfer: how to bridge the gap between academics and practitioners?” His research focuses on these topics: sustainable asset management, business ethics, ESG rating, social finance, impact investing, social innovation and technology transfer management.

Giuliana Birindelli, Ph.D., a Full Professor of Financial Markets and Institutions at the “G. d’Annunzio” University of Chieti-Pescara, Italy, where she teaches “Management of Financial Institutions” and “Banking and Finance”. She is member of the Scientific-Technical Committee of AIFIRM (Association of Italian Financial Risk Managers), member of the Advisory Board of Trustees of CUEIM (Consorzio Universitario di Economia Industriale e Manageriale – University Consortium of Industrial and Managerial Economics), Associate Director of BifeLab (Laboratorio Banca, Impresa, Finanza ed Etica – Research Laboratory on “Banks, Firms, Finance and Ethics”) and member of the (Italian) Scientific Committee of IPAZIA Observatory on gender research. She is also Ph.D. committee member in “Business and Behavioral Sciences” at the “G. d’Annunzio” University of Chieti-Pescara, Italy. Her main research interests are social and environmental performance in the banking sector, corporate governance of banks, Basel III, internal rating systems, operational risk and compliance risk. At present, she is member of the Board of Auditors of the Bank of Italy.

Giuseppe Sancetta, Ph.D. in Business Strategy and Full Professor of Business Management and Corporate Restructuring at Sapienza University of Rome. His research interests are mainly focused on business strategy, corporate restructuring, corporate governance and enterprise risk. He is editorial board of different journals in the research field. He published many articles in relevant international and Italian journals and several books with significant editors.

Helen Chiappini, Ph.D., a Postdoctoral Research Fellow at G. D’Annunzio University of Chieti and Pescara (Italy) on climate change and sustainable investments, Editorial Board Member of the Series “Palgrave Studies in Impact Finance”, Member of the Scientific Committee of the Social Impact Investments International Conference, and member of the Commission “Climate risk” of the Italian Association of Risk Managers. She is also Guest Editor of Special Issues and Topical Collection in the Journal “Sustainability”. Previously, she taught in MBA and MSc courses at Link Campus University and Luiss Guido Carli University (Italy), and at Pontificia Lateran

University of Vatican City. She was also Visiting Research Fellow at Centre of Banking and Finance at Regent's University, London (UK). She covered consultancy roles for national and international organizations also involved in development finance and she was scientific observer of the Italian Advisory Board on G8 Taskforce of Social Impact Investments. Her areas of research include impact investments, socially responsible investments, non-performing loans and bank governance.

Hussain Muhammad, a Ph.D. candidate in "Accounting, Management and Business Economics" at the Department of Management and Business Administration at the University "G.d'Annunzio" of Chieti-Pescara, Italy. Currently, he is a visiting researcher in Sprott Business School at Carleton University, Canada. He has published several publications and his area of interest includes corporate finance, corporate governance, capital structure, and merger & acquisition.

Lara Penco, an Associate professor of Business Strategy and Strategic Management & Corporate Strategy in the University of Genoa, Department of Economics and Business Studies. She is a Member of C.I.E.L.I., the Italian Center of Excellence on Logistics, Transports and Infrastructures. Her research interests lie in strategic management, corporate strategy and governance. She has carried out several research on medium-sized firms, cruise industry and retail logistics. She has more than 20 years of experience in research and academics and has published several articles in reputed journals.

Loris Landriani, Ph.D., an Associate Professor of Accounting at Business and Economics Department of Parthenope University of Naples, Italy, where he teaches external auditing. His research interests are local public utilities, with a particular focus on evaluation, control and corporate governance mechanisms. He is the author of several works on public transportation, water and cultural heritage assets published in national and international journals and books.

Luigi Lepore, Ph.D., an Associate Professor of Business Administration at the Parthenope University of Naples, Italy. He has been a Visiting Researcher at IE Business School (Madrid) and at Institute for Court Management (Williamsburg). His research interests focus on corporate governance, accounting and public management. He teaches "accounting" and "public management". He has participated as a Speaker in several international conferences, including annual congress of European Accounting Association (EAA), EGPA, ItAIS, and European Institute for Advanced Studies in Management (EIASM). He published numerous articles in journals, including Information System Management, Journal of Management and Governance, Journal of Intellectual Capital, Corporate Governance: The International Journal of Business in Society, Management Control and Financial Reporting.

Marco Pellicano, a Full Professor of Business Management at the University of Salerno, where he teaches "Business Strategy". He has gained considerable experience as project manager in the research programs by Ministry of Education, Universities and Research. He participated as Scientific Committee Member in several international conferences and Journal. He has published more than 40 articles and several books. His main research interests are enterprise relational view, strategic management, and family business.

Mario Calabrese, Ph.D., Adjunct Teacher of Management at Sapienza University of Rome. His main interests include strategy, entrepreneurship, innovation and change process in new organization and Government and Innovation Management: “Management of Corporate Development Process” (strategy implementation, acquisitions management, financial strategies and valuation). He is a financial, economic and corporate consultant with a peculiar interest in company strategy. He takes part in research, development and planning of business company studies.

Michele Pizzo, a Full Professor of Financial Accounting and Business Administration at the University of Campania Luigi Vanvitelli. He has spent several months as a visiting professor at the University of Sydney, Gent, and Goteborg. He has published about 10 books and several articles in refereed journals. His research interests embrace financial accounting, fair value accounting, bank regulation, and practice and corporate governance.

Nicola Cucari, a Research Fellow at University of Salerno and Adjunct Professor at different Italian Universities. He gained his Ph.D. in Business Management at Sapienza University of Rome. He has been a visiting researcher at University of Huelva (Spain) – Department of Management and at University of Hohenheim (Germany) – Institute of Marketing & Management. He is member of Editorial Board of international Journals and he has participated in various national research projects. His research is related to corporate governance, shareholder activism, family business and innovation management.

Nicola Moscariello, Ph.D., an Associate Professor of Financial Accounting and Business Administration at the University of Campania Luigi Vanvitelli. He is co-editor-in-chief of the journal “Corporate Board: Role, Duties, and Composition”. He was a lecturer of Financial Accounting and Reporting at the Brunel University in London. He has published about 3 books and several articles in refereed journals. His research interests embrace financial reporting, financial accounting, and corporate governance.

Paolo Tenuta, an Assistant Professor of Business Administration at the University of Calabria, where he is a member of several research groups. He received a Ph.D. in Public Management and Governance at the University of Calabria. He is the author of several monographies and articles in management and accounting field and has related to national and international workshops and conferences. His research interests are related to the board of directors and the management of public companies. In 2013 and 2018, he passed the National Scientific Qualification to become Associate Professor of Business Economics.

Pierluigi Martino, Ph.D., a Research Fellow at the Department of Economics and Management, University of Pisa. He has also been a Research Assistant at the Cass Business School, City University of London. His research interests are in the areas of internal audit, risk management and Fintech. He is author of some research papers in these areas.

Rosaria Cerrone, an Associate Professor of Financial Markets and Institutions at Department of Management and Innovation Systems (DISA-MIS) at University of Salerno, Italy. Her research activity and publications are mainly focused on corporate governance and risk management in financial institutions, Financial regulation, FinTech. She teaches on a number of courses within the undergraduate and postgraduate programmes. Her courses are corporate banking, financial markets and institutions; banking and financial markets, financial risk management, the first two taught in Italian and the others in English to Italian and foreign students.

Sabrina Bruno, a Full Professor of Comparative Corporate Law at University of Calabria and Luiss G. Carli, Rome (Italy). M.Litt. at Oxford University, Linacre College (U.K.) 1990-1994; Ph.D. University of Florence (Italy) 1992-1995; Visiting Scholar at: Stanford Law School (U.S.A.) 2019; Harvard Law School (U.S.A.) 2010; Southern Methodist University of Dallas (U.S.A.) 1998; University of California, Davis (U.S.A.) 1995. She is the author of two books (monographs) on “Directors’ liability for misleading information in financial markets”, 2000 and on “Role of shareholders’ general meeting in corporate governance”, 2012 and of various articles and chapters on Italian, English and US company law and corporate governance.

Sabrina Pisano, Ph.D., an Associate Professor of Business Administration at the Parthenope University of Naples, Italy. She has been a Visiting Researcher at Leonard Stern School of Business of the New York University. She teaches “business administration” and “Annual report and accounting standards”. She is interested in the following topics: annual report, voluntary disclosure, corporate governance. She has participated as a Speaker in several international conferences, including the annual congresses of European Accounting Association (EAA) and the European Institute for Advanced Studies in Management (EIASM) and the workshop on Accounting and Regulation. She published numerous articles in journals, including Journal of Intellectual Capital, Corporate Governance: The International Journal of Business in Society, Financial Reporting and Journal of Modern Accounting and Auditing.

Salvatore Esposito De Falco, a Full Professor of Business Management at the Sapienza University of Rome, where he teaches “Corporate Governance and Family Business: Ownership Governance and Management”. He was visiting scholar with the Department of Management, Baruch College, City University of New York and New York University Stern School of Business, as well as a visiting professor with the Universidad de Huelva, Spain. He is Co-Editors-in-Chief of “Corporate Governance and Organizational Behavior Review” and Editor in Chief of “Corporate Governance and Research & Development studies”. Since 2018 he is Grant Office Manager of Cecilia Medical Hospital and has gained considerable experience as project manager in the research programs by Ministry of Education, Universities and Research. He is chartered accountant and legal auditor. He participated as Scientific Committee Member in several international conferences. He has published more than 50 articles (5 articles in A Anvur). His main research interests are corporate governance, executive compensation, say on pay, family business, shareholder engagement, strategic management.

Stefania Migliori, Ph.D. in Accounting, Management and Financial Intermediaries. Currently, she is Assistant Professor in Accounting and Management at the Department of Management & Business Administration of University of Chieti-Pescara (Italy) where she teaches Crisis Management and Turnaround Strategy. Her research areas of interest are mainly focused on corporate governance in SMEs, family firms and university spin-off management. Her academic publications include articles in academic international journal, books and book chapters on these topics. She also serves as reviewer for several international journals.

Valerio Rapone, a Research Fellow at the Department of Economics, Management and Institutions, University of Naples Federico II. He completed his Ph.D. in Management at University of Naples Federico II. His areas of research include corporate governance, management accounting and financial reporting.